

Cory-Lyd Chronicals

February 2005

Cory can button his own shirt!

With tools and belt, Cory is ready to fix the world!

Lydi's getting big! The last shipment of Christmas gifts arrived from the US February 21. Lydi was excited.

Cory and Lid's new bunk bed. An Indonesian neighbor who likes working with wood made the bottom half. Later we asked him to add a second level. The story is quite a funny display of Luke's language ability. If Luke didn't catch him in time the bottom half would have looked like a zoo cage. As for the top half, Luke caught him making a whole separate bed. When the misunderstanding was cleared up, he did a fine job. Luke learned the word for misunderstanding: kesalahfahaman!

Other news: Lydia is potty trained! Cory and Lyd have learned the alphabet up to "V". Lydi can button her shirt too. They have both started morning and evening chores. In the morning they fold their PJs and make their bed. In the evening Lydia sets the table and Cory clears the table. We love you all!!
